Clean Water, Better Learning: How "We Care, We Share" Made a Difference!

HAGL Myanmar's "We Care, We Share" initiative, launched on July 28, 2026, focuses on sustainable community development in East Dagon Township. It aims to enhance under-resourced public and monastic educational facilities by providing long-term water purification solutions, improving classroom infrastructure, and supporting local students' daily needs.

HAGL Myanmar has alleviated the financial burden of daily water purchases for local schools by installing water purification systems. This initiative not only reduces costs but also promotes student health and well-being.

Where We Made an Impact

Chan Thar Aung Nunnery Education Center

- Installed a water purification unit for daily safe drinking water
- Donated large whiteboards to replace worn-out classroom equipment

Aye Yeik Thar Monastic Education School

- Installed a water purification unit
- Provided Solar lights for uninterrupted learning during blackouts
- Provided wall-mounted and AC/DC rechargeable fans to keep study spaces comfortable

No. (26) Basic Education Post-Primary Branch School

- Fixed and reinstalled a damaged RO water purifier
- Replaced broken whiteboards with brand-new ones

No. (10) Basic Education Post- Primary School

- Provided water purification machines for reliable daily water access

Employee Engagement & Direct Outreach

The HAGL Myanmar team exemplified corporate citizenship by donating personal contributions to provide 1,000 loaves of bread to students at four centers. They emphasize their commitment to building sustainable infrastructure and supporting local youth, ensuring that every child has a nurturing environment to thrive.

"Access to clean water, reliable lighting, and proper learning tools are essential building blocks for quality education,"

Said Mr. Nguyen Van Kha, general director of THISO Myanmar. "Through 'We Care, We Share,' our objective is to relieve operational costs for local educational centers while ensuring that young learners have a healthy, comfortable environment to achieve their full potential"
